

got wine?

Durham wine shop uses area wine to educate locals, PAGE 7

food 4 thought

Eatery switch-up adds spice to Erwin Road food scene, PAGE 7

krzyzewski

Coach K won't appoint successor but wants one with Duke tie, PAGE 9

The Chronicle

THURSDAY, JUNE 19, 2008

THE INDEPENDENT DAILY AT DUKE UNIVERSITY

ONE HUNDRED AND FOURTH YEAR, ISSUE S6

Duke hires first Muslim chaplain

Abdullah Antepli to join staff as full-time imam

BY CHRISTOPHER ROSS
THE CHRONICLE

The University announced Monday that it hired Abdullah Antepli to serve as its first full-time Muslim chaplain.

Duke will be joining a very small group of universities across the country—including Georgetown University, Princeton University and Yale University—that have full-time imams.

When he begins work July 1, Antepli will be taking on a number of tasks that include religious leadership, counseling and faith-based work.

He will not, however, be limited to mentoring only the Muslim community. Antepli will also teach courses in the Fall, and he said he expects to reach out to all students and promote collaboration between the Muslim community and other groups.

“One of the things I love most about Duke, which attracted me to this University, is its diversity,” he said. “My ministry will tap into the diversity here at Duke, not just the Muslim community.”

About 50 to 60 students are actively involved in the Duke Muslim Students Association, MSA President Ahmad El-Nagger said. Duke has approximately 300 under-

SEE IMAM ON PAGE 12

Fruitylicious

MAYA ROBINSON/THE CHRONICLE

Locals peruse the food stands at the Durham Farmers Market. The market—which attracts farmers, crafters and prepared-food vendors to The Pavilion at Durham Central Park—is in its ninth season and is open Saturday mornings and Wednesday afternoons in the summer. SEE PAGE 5.

Assault reported on Central

Durham police nab 3 of 5 robbery suspects

BY ZAK KAZZAZ
THE CHRONICLE

Three of the five people who allegedly assaulted and robbed a sophomore male on campus around 10:15 p.m. Friday have been arrested and are being held by Durham Police.

Sherika Burnette

Sherika Burnette, 19, Zecora Hajambo, 17, and another female, 13, whose name was not released, were arrested on counts of robbery with a dangerous weapon and assault with a deadly weapon causing serious injury. Burnette and Hajambo were also charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor. The two men who were with them are still at large.

Zecora Hajambo

The student was walking back to his Central Campus apartment after a meeting on West Campus when a black man approached him and demanded money, the victim said. He ignored the request and continued to walk,

SEE ASSAULT ON PAGE 5

New dean joins Trinity ranks

SPECIAL TO THE CHRONICLE

Kevin Moore, associate dean for research at UNC-Greensboro, will join Duke as a senior associate dean of Trinity College, officials announced Friday.

BY JULIA LOVE
THE CHRONICLE

Kevin Moore, the current associate dean for research at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro, will join Duke in July as Trinity College of Arts and Sciences senior associate dean for faculty affairs, George McLendon, incoming dean of Trinity College and dean of the faculty of Arts and Sciences, announced Friday.

Moore succeeds Charles Byrd, who is retiring after serving as senior associate dean for faculty affairs for more than 20 years.

“Duke’s reputation for academic excellence rests on the abilities of its faculty,” Moore said in a statement. “I am pleased to be part of the Arts and Sciences administration and to be involved in helping bring the best faculty to Duke and to retain the best faculty as well.”

Moore has been associate dean for research at UNC-G since 2004 and previously held positions at the Social Science Research Council in New York, the

SEE NEW DEAN ON PAGE 12

Patients file suit against DUHS contractors

BY JULIA LOVE
THE CHRONICLE

Dozens of patients who were accidentally treated with tainted surgical instruments at Duke University Health System hospitals in 2004 filed a civil suit Tuesday in Durham against the companies contracted by the University to sterilize the equipment.

In November and December 2004, DUHS physicians operated on more than 3,600 patients using instruments mistakenly cleaned with hydraulic fluid. The fluid was drained from an elevator and unintentionally sent to Durham Regional Hospital and Duke Health Raleigh Hospital for use as detergent.

SEE CIVIL SUIT ON PAGE 4